W. I. Meeting
The W. I. met at Mrs. Murray's home this month instead of Mrs. Wilson's in the country as advertised sufficient cars were not available. There were 14 members present. A vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Rideout for the rug donated last month, also to Mrs. Berry for tatting for pillows which is to be raffled next month. The members were pleased to have a long letter from Mrs. Lawrence who continues to be our Constituency Conventor. The topic for the afternoon was Agriculture. Mrs. Lee read an article "Know your labels", and Mrs. Marcy gave a paper on "Cereals". The making of paper tulips was then demonstrated by Mrs. Marcy. The whole program was very interesting. The next meetings will be at Mrs. Turple's.

Young Peoples Bridge Club Holds Meeting
The Young Peoples Bridge Club held their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Otto. The refreshment committee were Miss Madeline Otto, Miss M. Milligan and Harry Johnson. Prize winners were, Miss Oakie Guss and Lorne MacBeth.
During the business session it was decided to discontinue the meetings for the summer months. The treasury still had a surplus so it was decided to use it by having a party, the date to be set later.
Depression Bottom Passed
As long as these adverse influences continue to operate they must be taken into the reckoning. The fact remains, however, that the low point in the long depression has been reached and passed, that considerable progress has already been made in this and other countries in the restoration of normal conditions, and that present economic trends are in the direction of further progress. This should give solid ground for confidence, if not for undue optimism.

The Ladies Card Club met on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. W. S. Lee. The honors were shared by Miss Mae Petersen and Mrs. P. Petersen.

Speech Promises Debt Lightening Aid for Farmers in Canada

OTTAWA, April 18.—Further details were given today in the budget speech of Hon. E. N. Rhodes, minister of finance, of the proposed measures which the government will seek, at the present session of parliament, to lighten the debt and interest burden of the agricultural community. He coupled it with an assertion that writing down of government debts was not practicable.

"The guiding principle of this legislation," the minister said, will be to secure for the farmers a simplified debt structure reduced in size to a point where the carrying charge will be within the capacity of the farm enterprise to pay. This will involve some concessions on the part of creditors, but these will be more than outweighed by the advantages which will follow as a result of retaining the farmer on the land as a willing and effective producer.

"The release of economic energy so produced and the substitution of hope and goodwill for despondency and discontent which are now prevalent in certain areas should result in a very real gain to our whole domestic economy."

General Application To Vast
The claim has been made that a somewhat similar procedure should be applied to certain classes of public debt in this country. This question is too large and complicated a subject to call for more than a passing reference by me at this time. But as I have outlined our proposals for dealing with farm debts, I wish to make clear why in my opinion the same kind of remedy cannot be applied to the problem of public indebtedness.

In the first place is the fact that so large a proportion of the direct and guaranteed debt of the dominion and the province is held by foreign investors. Not only that but, as a result of the methods of financing in the post war years, a very large proportion of these foreign and of domestic holdings is in the form of bearer bonds payable at the option of the holder in either two or three markets. It is therefore impracticable, if not indeed entirely impossible, to administer a policy that would seek to differentiate between Canadian and foreign investors.

None Seek Part Repudiation
Whatever argument may be advanced in favor of a comprehensive policy of scaling down all fixed charges due by Canadian debtors to Canadian creditors—and this would involve what is too frequently overlooked, a reduction in payments to be made by as well as to Canadian creditor institutions such as insurance companies mortgage companies, trust companies and banks—I doubt whether there are many Canadians who would be willing to contemplate a program which would involve even a partial repudiation of our external obligations.

Canadians on Relief Placed at 1,367,124 One-third at Toronto

Toronto, April 30. (C. P.)—The Mail and Empire in a special despatch, from its Ottawa correspondent says a return tabled in the House of Commons showed 1,367,124 men, women and children were on relief during last December. Approximately one-third of the number were residents of Ontario.

The total number of people across the Dominion on relief during December was 5 per cent or 66,154 higher than that of December, 1932, when 1,300,670 were persons supported wholly or in part at the public expense.

A total of 1,228,264 people received direct relief and 138,358 were receiving other than direct relief from the provinces or different federal departments. Only estimates could be made regarding the number on indirect relief.

In Ontario during December 459,442 men, women and children were on relief compared with 438,710 in December, 1932, an increase of 4.7 per cent. A total of 410,593 obtained direct relief with an estimated 48,849 obtained help in other forms.

Quebec's relief figures dropped 17 per cent or from 421,782 in December 1932; to 349,523 in December 1933.

Would Bar Low Grade Wheat From Use As Human Consumption

PARIS, April 30.—(C. P. Havana).—A decree which will render impossible the use of low grade wheat for human consumption was submitted to President Gaston Doumergue by Henri Queille, minister of agriculture, Saturday.

The decree aims to improve the chemically staining low grade wheat so as to unfit them for human consumption while not damaging them for use as cattle and horse feed.

Heatdole Happenings

Wheat Prices And Economic Experiment

International experts of the wheat advisory commission have been engaged, at Rome, in studying ways and means of raising wheat prices, and, according to press despatches of recent date, have reached decisions which will be submitted to the governments of the signatory countries for approval and, it is presumed, concerted action. Decisions, it is stated, must be ratified in time to permit their implementation by June 1.

Details of the plan which have emanated, so far, from the conference at Rome, are not complete enough to warrant analysis with a view to computing their effects. Apparently, however, it is proposed to employ a price-fixing system to regulate exports rather than the commoner process of regulating exports to control price fluctuations. Apparently, too, the intention is to base the minimum price of wheat on the relation between export supplies and the month to month demand, with the London quotas rigorously adhered to by the exporting countries.

Nothing has been said so far as to the price objective. Undoubtedly, however, unless it be the $3.02 gold cent price computed as the "average price of all parcels of imported wheat of all grades sold during each week in all the ports of Great Britain," the terms of the London agreement, as they apply to the exporting countries, will be rendered nugatory. This is the price which, according to the agreement, must be reached and maintained over a period of sixteen weeks, before scaling down of customs tariffs begins.

Western Canada awaits with interest and expectation complete details of the proposals drafted by the experts for submission to the signatory nations. Price, of course, is a matter of paramount importance to the farmers of the prairie provinces, and, if, by agreement, the world price can be raised and stabilized, a long step will have been taken towards stabilizing the agricultural industry in Western Canada. It is impossible here to talk of lowering production costs while debt and other charges remain as a high and uncontrollable overhead factor in them.

Of scarcely less significance to the prairie farmer is the matter of lower customs duties against Canadian wheat in the importing countries of Europe. If, then, in addition to raising world prices, there is an adjustment downward of tariffs associated with wholehearted efforts by the importing countries to increase consumption of wheat and at the same time to reduce domestic production, western agriculture may assume with some hope of fulfillment and success, the task of orienting itself to the new economic objective. That is to say, if the spirit of the London agreement is observed to the letter of its various terms, there is no obvious reason why, once the carryovers are disposed of, Canada's export quota should not progressively increase pari passu with her ability to consume the products of industries indigenous to her best customers. Signs already are conspicuous that the ultimate determinant of positive or negative reaction to the terms of the London agreement by the importing countries will be the "balance of trade".

Throughout the world, a series of exceedingly interesting and vitally important economic experiments are underway, with the various nations engaged in concerted efforts to set their own productive processes in order. The United States is seeking prosperity and stability through the agency of the Roosevelt "New Deal". Mussolini has his corporative state with industry, organized on a national basis, acting as "economic advisor" of the government. Germany is essaying recovery through a process of state intervention, and Austria apparently is preparing to adopt the Italian model. Russia, of course, is seeking to gear the productive machine to the needs of her people, through socialization. In Britain, the means to recovery is styled "rationalization". All the experiments have one element in common—government intervention, government control and government regulation. The same trend is patent in Canada, for recent legislation has laid foundations for a wide range of machinery for control and regulation, which is to be erected and made operative as conditions determine.

Value Of Birds

Rev. B. F. Henry of Pratt, Mass., in placing the value of the various species of birds, said the meadow larks are worth $2 each. "The robin," he said, "is worth its weight in gold." In setting the value of the robin, Rev. Henry declared it does great work in eliminating garden and lawn pests, while the meadow lark also helps the farmer by assisting in ridding his fields of the smaller pests.

World's Cheapest Air Route

The world's cheapest air service has been inaugurated between Glasgow, Belfast, and London. The service will cost passengers not more than a penny a mile. Equipped with two motors of 460 horsepower each, the planes will carry 15 passengers and two pilots. The Southern Railway Company is now operating an air line between Croydon and the Isle of Wight.

Smothering Sensations Faint and Dizzy Spells

Those feelings of faintness; those dizzy spells; those awful smothering, sinking sensations which come over people, from time to time, are warnings that should not go unheeded. They indicate an extremely weakened condition of the nerves and other vital organs, and should be given immediate attention. Those suffering in this way will find in Milburn's H. and N. Pills a remedy with which to recuperate their health, build up their run down system, and bring back their bodily vigor.

Ask your druggist for Milburn's H. & N. Pills.

Thousand Miles An Hour

Astonishing Things Predicted By Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith

Whirling through the stratosphere at well over a thousand miles an hour in the hermetically-sealed cabin of a giant air liner, guided entirely by wireless control stations on earth—can you imagine the possibility. Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith, hero of the recent record-smashing flight to Australia, believes this not only possible, but likely. In an astonishing vision of aerial development within the next fifty years he foresees air travel brought to such a pitch that ships and railways will become semi-obsolete, their sole use being as carriers of heavy freight.

"There will be no human pilot, but gyroscopic control," said Sir Charles. "The huge flying liners which will move through the stratosphere at a uniform speed of 1,200 miles an hour, carrying 100 passengers in their luxurious cabins, will be fitted with super-efficiency, super-charged engines and variable pitch propellers. "Risk will be negligible. Each plane will have ten, twelve or fifteen engines, all in the event of one cutting off, the others in charge will simply deduce that engine from the propeller while the mechanics repair it en route. Crude oil will probably be used as fuel."

Actually, to accomplish the amazing speed of which Sir Charles speaks we do not require more powerful engines than some already built. The atmospheric density 60,000 feet above the earth is about a quarter of what it is here, so that an engine, which under normal conditions to-day attains the high speed of 350 miles an hour, would hurtle through the rarefied atmosphere at 1,400 miles an hour.

PRICES RISE BUT TEA STILL MOST ECONOMICAL

Three years of disastrously low prices for tea finally goaded the growers into action and committees were formed a few months ago to control production. Prices have advanced and as a result as merchants have exhausted their present stocks the housewife will have to pay slightly more for her favourite beverage. Finest teas such as "Salada" still produce about 5 cups for a cent.

Rich Collection For Museum

B.C. University Receives Rare Specimens From Dr. Fraser

The University of British Columbia will be enriched by a collection of hundreds of species of marine life, many hitherto unknown to science as a result of an 8,500-mile cruise through the south Pacific by a scientific party of which Dr. C. McLean Fraser, professor of zoology, was a member.

Dr. Fraser returned to Vancouver after an absence of three months. He declared that the expedition involved very little romance, but much hard work. He expects the discoveries made in the comparatively virgin scientific area of the coast of South America will have important bearings in the study of marine flora and fauna.

The specimens collected ranged from snakes and monkeys found on shore to sea serpents, brilliantly tinted "angel" fish and crustaceans. Dr. Fraser, being a world authority on a minute form of sea life known as hydroids, brought back a large number of formerly unknown types for the university museum.

A Double Nasturtium

New Flower Developed By Successor To Luther Burbank

A double nasturtium that "looks like an azalea and ranges in color from lemon yellow to scarlet," has been developed at Plant Research. It was created by David Burpee, who has continued the work of Luther Burbank in developing new varieties of plants.

The new flowers have attracted considerable attention at the recent local flower shows, where they have been called "the poor man's orchid."

Teaching "Jiu Jitsu"

Miss Dorothy Curtis, recently returned from Japan where she has been teaching school for three years, has enrolled for her final year at the University of Wisconsin. In order to help pay expenses, she has organized a "jiu jitsu" class for girls. Miss Curtis, proficient in the art herself, says she has some promising students.

First book printed in America was the "Escala Espiritual de San Juan Climaco"; no copies are known to be in existence.

Marvels of the Human Eye

By F. M. CROWE, Optometrist-Optician, Calgary

NO. 11—THE EYE IN ITS RELATION TO HEALTH

The eyes are large factors in our health and efficiency. Since Nature allows to each organ its proper share of our total energy, it follows that if defective eyes use too much, other organs suffer a shortage, leaving them too weak to carry on their functions properly. Hence we often suffer ill in other organs, while the primary cause is to be found in the eyes.

The eye is the most wonderful of the five special senses, extremely sensitive and delicate and very easily thrown out of adjustment by overwork or abuse. A tired body or limb is given rest but the eye which has shared the general fatigue of the body is often required to go on working long after the work of the day is abandoned. Do not imagine that close work, like reading, is the only time when the eyes work. Quite true, close work requires the use of extra nerve energy but the eyes are working and using nerve power every moment they are open.

The possibility of conserving human energy by correcting eye defects is greater than by any other means. These defects are usually due to the eyeball being imperfectly shaped and the muscles are involuntarily constantly trying to overcome these defects in the interests of better vision. The resulting strain can only be relieved by wearing correcting lenses.

It is not good for even normal eyes to concentrate too long on reading or sewing. Make it a habit to "look off" periodically for a few seconds and thus allow the muscles to relax and restore their nerve force. Avoid shadows and glossy paper as much as possible. Do not permit the light to shine into the eyes but rather on the book. Reading lying down is injurious. Hold the head erect with your work fourteen or sixteen inches from the eyes. It is harmful to continue at close work if the eyes smart, water, ache or blur, as these are some of nature's warnings that there is trouble ahead. Have your eyes examined by an expert and know their condition. (To Be Continued)

Historic Treasure Prized

Old Sword Once Flashed At Battle Of Waterloo

An historic sabre that once flashed in battle under the colors of King Louis XVI. of France is a relic highly treasured today by Auguste de la Tremouaine, who was established at Montmartre, Sask., 1893.

It is the sabre of Baron de la Villabau, Tremouaine's grand-uncle, who was breveted lieutenant by Louis XVI. in 1785. The baron took part in all the campaigns of Louis XVI. including those of Napoleon on the march to and from Moscow, the battle of Waterloo and the defeat of Bonaparte. He died in 1836 and the sabre passed on to Tremouaine.

The 64-year-old pioneer of this little village migrated from France in 1873 and established his home at Chrysothem, Chautauque county, Quebec. He moved west 20 years later.

Light Refreshments

Police Of New York Evidently Have Hearty Appetites

New York's "Finest" may not be either wealthy or wise but they are certainly healthy, judging from the recent copious of 6,000 policemen.

On a special occasion these "Coppers" had breakfast together recently and here is what they are reported to have eaten: 3,000 grapefruit, 1,200 pounds of oatmeal, 24,000 eggs (scrambled), 2,500 roast chickens, 4,500 pounds of potatoes, 12,000 sausages, and 1,000 pounds of sugar.

This light snack was washed down with 900 gallons of coffee, 800 quarts of milk and 1,250 quarts of cream.

If the reader chooses, he can figure out the exact share of the average policeman for himself.

School Age At Eight

Children should not be permitted to go to school until they reached the age of eight, in the opinion of Dr. Laurence P. Folsom, president of the New England Council of Optometrists. "The eyes of the human being," he said, "do not reach the state of maturity until the child is eight years of age, and much of the unnecessary strain to which we subject the eyes of children in the classroom should be avoided to insure healthy eyes among the future generations."

About two-thirds of the road mileage in the United States still rates as "unimproved."

Yacht Cup Race

Mrs. Sopwith Will Act As Timekeeper On The Endeavor

Mrs. T. D. Sopwith, who will act as timekeeper on her husband's challenging yacht, the Endeavor, when it attempts to wrest the America's cup from the United States this summer off Newport, R.I., is anticipating the thrill of her life.

In every race of the series she will stand close beside Mr. Sopwith at the wheel, a stop-watch grasped in either hand, advising him to the second the time the Endeavor has made on each leg of the run, the time of its opponent, how they stand. It's important.

"I wouldn't miss it for anything in the world," she told the Associated Press when interviewed at the Sopwith's handsome town residence in Park Lane. "I always act as timekeeper in our races, but this, of course, will be the biggest of all."

"You may be sure I won't wear trousers," she said. "Just a skirt and blouse and jacket. If there's a heavy sea I have a waterproof."

Heavy Tourist Trade

Estimated Americans Spend $77,250,000 In Canada In One Year

Travel between the United States and Canada is greater than over any other international boundary in the world, according to a return just issued by the Canadian government dealing with the tourist traffic of Canada. During 1933 the number of automobiles from the United States which entered Canada for touring purposes was 3,096,887. Of these, 2,233,418 were admitted for a period not exceeding 24 hours; 853,136 for a period not exceeding 60 days; and 333 for a period not exceeding six months. From information received from various sources including co-operation with United States officials it is estimated that the average expenditure per car in the 24-hour class was $7.68; in the 60-day class, $59.80; in the six-month class, $234.07. Total expenditures by visitors by automobile from the United States during the year are placed at $77,250,000 in Canada funds.

Like Good Old Days

Useful Home Production Idea Revived By Alberta Settlers

The "good old days" have come back to the rural district of Brakine, Alberta, with a return to useful home production. The same engine that has chopped a generous supply of wood for the summer months also runs a chopper that grinds wheat into breakfast food. From hides men fashion everything from moccasins to coats.

Sugar beets provide syrup which, combined with yeast, gives the settler vinegar, and women, so prolific in the knitting of socks, sweaters and caps, have revived talk of the old spinning wheel.

Perils Of Seafarer

Deaths through violence are 430 per cent. higher among sailors than in other groups, M. J. Jacobs informs us, states the Los Angeles Times. He also gives us the startling statement that going to sea in modern ships is no safer than in the days of the Phoenicians, 2,600 years ago, when crude wooden ships were used.

A lifeboat has been designed which is equipped with rotating rims at bow and stern on which it can be slid down beside of a ship safely no matter what the ship's position may be.

Does Not Harm the Heart

OCCASIONAL WIFE

By EDNA ROBB WEBSTER
Author of "Joretta", "Lipstick Girl", Etc.

SYNOPSIS

Camilla Hoyt and Peter Anson, young and in love, marry secretly, deciding to live their own lives apart until Peter is able to provide for her. Peter is a young, struggling sculptor trying to win a competition for a scholarship abroad and Camilla is the adopted daughter of a wealthy family. She is not to inherit money when she comes of age and so is studying commercial art in the hope of landing an agency job. Others in the story are Avis Werth, another wealthy girl who is trying to win Peter, Sylvia Todd, Peter's model, and Gus Matson, his former roommate with whom he is quarrelled. At a party at an exclusive club Peter entertains Camilla's guests with impersonations. When the rest of the members of the party go to a cabaret to continue the party, Peter and Camilla slip off to the beach by themselves and fall asleep on the sand. When they awake it is early morning and Avis and another boy are standing near them. This makes it necessary for Camilla to announce before the party that she and Peter are married. Bowman and Weeks, an advertising agency, where Camilla has submitted some of her work, send for her and offer her a salary of $50.00 a week to start and a prospect of having it doubled. She tells Peter of her good fortune in securing employment. Mrs. Hoyt is also informed that Camilla has obtained work and is going to leave the Hoyt household. Avis Werth rents a studio on the same floor as Peter, and invites him to have lunch there. He accepts reluctantly, but is favorably impressed with his visit. Camilla urges Peter to accept some of her earnings to help him along, but Peter refuses and they quarrel. After Camilla has gone from the studio, Avis Werth calls and persuades Peter to accept a loan of $1,000.

(Now Go On With The Story)

CHAPTER XII.

Camilla told Rose then of the disagreement between Peter and herself. She found some relief from her confidence in a sympathetic listener. Rose nodded absently. "I expected it. You might have known it would not work out."

"But, Rose, if this way doesn't, what would? It seemed to be the best plan in every way."

"The best plan would have been to wait until Peter was established before you married," emphatically.

"But that might be for years. And we love each other so!"

"Sure, that's just the trouble, no matter what class the man is in or whether it's a case of love or duty. The next best thing in your case would have been for you to let Peter take care of you and make the best of everything he could give you and anything he could do for you, even if you had to live on practically nothing but love."

"Oh, but that would have ruined Peter's career."

"And what is your occasional wife plan doing for it?"

Camilla sighed and gestured helplessly. "I don't know. That's just it. Nothing is right."

Rose offered cheerfully, Oh, he will get over it and everything will be okay again until the next round. All husbands and wives have to quarrel about something once in awhile."

"Not the pure gold ones you were talking about. Rose, you didn't tell me what class Peter is in."

"You should know. Class three, of course. Peter is no man of habit—he's too clever. And if you ask me, I'd rather have a man who steps aside once in awhile because he has some brains and originality, than a man who is loyal because his wife is just like eating and sleeping, to him."

"You mean you wouldn't mind if he were untrue?"

"Oh—sure. It's mind boggling. But what I do about it? And who has everything just the way she wants it? I'm just saying that half a loaf is better than none and that if your man is in that first or second class, you have none. None of that romance and sentiment that women crave. That's why most of them have to get a substitute, like listening to radio crooners."

"But what shall I do about Peter?"

"Nothing. Just go to see him as usual and act as if nothing had happened. Men don't weigh and remember every word that's said like a woman does. They get over a quarrel as easily as they get into it. But don't mention money to him again. Let him sell apples for a living, if he wants to be so stubborn and independent." She laughed. "In a way, I admire him. I'm sorry for him, too. Peter's a grand guy, but he needs a lift, somehow. If he don't take it from you, maybe he will from someone else."

"Who?" Camilla inquired anxiously.

"Oh, someone will recognize his talent, perhaps, and get around his pride complex. I hope so, for his own sake, and yours."

The shrilling of the doorbell startled both of them. They looked at each other inquiringly, for they seldom had visitors.

"It's probably Peter," Rose observed. "If it is, I'll get out, so you two can talk."

"Please don't! I don't think it could be Peter, though." Already, her heart was racing at the thought.

"Well, you won't know until you open the door." She smiled to herself at Camilla, who sat as if glued to her chair and yet looking as if she wanted to fly to the door. "Just a second until I get this sewing out of sight."

Camilla patted her hair and powdered her nose hurriedly before she called into the speaking tube, "Hello."

"Camilla?" inquired a voice that caused an exquisite delight to vibrate through her whole being. "It's Peter."

As if she didn't know! Already, she had pressed the electric button to release the downstairs lock, and was outside in the hall waiting when he reached the top of the stairs. His long legs almost seemed to take two or three steps at a time.

He took both her outstretched hands and kissed her eagerly, drawing her into the room.

"Peter, I'm so glad to see you!" she whispered.

He tossed his hat onto a table and looked around. "Hello, Rose. Am I intruding?"

"Not at all. I'm tickled to death you came. I wanted to go out home and see Ma tonight, but Camilla did feel like going and I didn't want to leave her alone. Now I can run along."

"Why, you never said—!" Camilla began.

"Of course not. I knew you would insist on staying alone. I'd rather not come back tonight, either. Can't you stay, Peter?"

"Why—if Camilla wants me."

"Well, you two can settle that. I think I know what the answer will be," she said roughly. "I won't be back, anyway. I'll take my slip out and sew the lace on the machine. That will be much better and save me a lot of time."

She was collecting her things as she talked. She stood before the mirror and adjusted a red beret over her soft black hair, buttoned the collar of a tweed coat under her chin. "Chilly out, isn't it?" she asked Peter.

"Rather," he replied. "You don't mind going out alone?"

"I should say not! It's early yet. Well, goodbye to you two. See that you treat our guest right," she admonished Camilla with a wink.

"Nice kid," said Peter, when she had gone. "Too, bad she hadn't a chance like you."

"I don't know. In many ways, Rose is wiser than I. I envy her sometimes."

"Camilla, I came to apologize for the other day. I'm terribly sorry," he confessed.

"So am I, Peter. But that's all over. Let's forget it ever happened."

She was in his arms, with her arms around his neck, close.

"My precious! I wish it hadn't happened. But we'll start all over again, just as if it hadn't. Except please, dear, don't say any more about—that." Which is the way men apologize and repent, with no retractions or concessions. They may regret what has happened, but somehow the woman is still wrong in their opinion.

But like all women in love, it was enough for Camilla that he once more held her close instead of drawing away from her, that his eyes looked deep into hers with confidence.

"It was I who had the blackie-blues that time. I haven't felt so low as long as I can remember. But everything is going to work out all right, somehow." His optimism was a happy surprise to Camilla. Here, before, it had been she who encouraged him. This mood must be the rebound from the depths of his recent despair. It was so delicious to relax in his arms and in the buoyancy of his mood.

"You just forgot that the kind of thing you are doing can't be accomplished in a minute. And the best things in life always take time to accomplish."

"I don't mind waiting for a reasonable time, but I get panicky some-

3 MONTHS ON BISCUITS AND MILK

Woman's Digestive Troubles

Everyone who is subject to any form of indigestion should know of this woman's experiences. Advice from one who has had such severe attacks is advice worth having. She writes:

"I suffered from indigestion, gastritis and constipation, and was so very ill, I had (on medical advice) to live on soda biscuits and milk for three months. Well, a friend advised me to take Kruschen, and now I am pleased to say my troubles are ended. I can eat and enjoy a good meal without any painful after-effects, my skin is clearer—in fact, quite clear—and there is no sign of constipation. I would advise anyone suffering the same to take Kruschen."—(Mrs.) M. R. L.

The immediate effect of the six salts in Kruschen is to promote a natural flow of the digestive and other vital juices of the body. Soon after you start on Kruschen you will find that you are able to enjoy your food without any distressing after-effects. And as you persevere with the "little daily dose," you will see that the relief which Kruschen brings is lasting relief.

times when I think about some of the old boys of the past who had to die before the world would recognize them. I may not be a genius in their class, but look at the fellows like Farquhar. He died penniless and writing a play that has survived for two centuries."

"Tell me about him. I don't know the story," Camilla prompted.

"His story fits plenty of others like him. But he wrote his masterpiece on his deathbed, when he knew he was doomed to die, and in extreme poverty. The play was a tremendous success from the first, but he lived for only a month after the premiere. Imagine the irony of that—audiences roaring at the humor of his play while he suffered the last agonies of a slow death. And the play is still a success—just revived in London last season and made such a big hit that they're bringing it to America. Such is fame!"

"But, darling, genius gets a better break than the days that it did two centuries ago."

He nodded. "That's what makes the struggle worth while; that, and hoping that, even if I'm not recognized while I'm living, I might produce something that would add to the beauty of the future. Sculpture is more enduring, at least, than a book or a picture that can be hidden away or lost."

Had Camilla known what power sustained his hope and confidence, she might have been less happy in sharing it. But she supposed that Peter naturally buoyant nature had righted itself in his contrition over their quarrel, and that he had worked out his problem to satisfy his own peculiar pride. She did not know that he had died that evening with Avis, and had brought away with him some of her faith in himself and her own ultimate victory.

She was to discover in the days which followed, that if you once put love away for even a little while, and take it out again—it is never the same. It is like a flower that is so fragrant and beautiful that you want to keep it forever and put it away between the pages of a book to treasure with memories; but when you take it out again, it is not at all the same gorgeous thing that you once had in your hands.

Montreal Cabbies

With the marked decrease in the number of cabbies' licenses issued in Montreal last year, the question of allowing motor vehicles to travel on Mount Royal again looms as a contentious issue. Last year, according to Mr. Lamoureux, who is in charge of the permit department at the city hall, there were only 98 cabbies' licenses which is a decrease of 25, as against the figure for the preceding year.

Unusual But True

So unusual is it to have a no-accident year on streets of large centres that Belleville's record without a fatality in 1933 raised doubts and brought a request for a check-up to Chief Knott for verification of the record. "Fortunately it was true. The chief constable was able to notify the registrar of the Motor Vehicles in Ontario that there were no motor fatalities in this city during 1933."

British Grant For Horse Breeding

The British war horse has sanctioned a grant of $25,000 in encouragement of light-horse breeding this year. A special amount is set aside for native pony breeds, in danger of extinction.

Little Helps For This Week

"I was afraid and went and hid thy talent in the earth, lo, there thou hast that is thine." Matthew 25:25.

Time was I shrank from what was right.

From fear of what was wrong; I would not brave the sacred fight.

Because the foe was stronger.

But now I cast that fear aside And sover shame aside; Such dread of sin was indolence, Such aim at heaven was pride.

—J. H. Newman.

If the really devout man falls into error he does not fret over it, but, rising up with a humble spirit he goes on his way rejoicing.

Were he to fall a hundred times in the day he would not despair, he would rather cry out lovingly to God appealing to His tender mercy and pity.

The really devout man has a horror of evil, but he has still greater love for that which is good, he is more set on doing right than avoiding wrong.

Generous, large-hearted, he is not afraid of danger in serving God, and would rather run the risk of doing His will imperfectly than not strive to serve Him lest he fail in the attempt.—Jean Nicolas Grou.

Forgot His Haughtiness

New York Hotel Doorman Took Tip From Scrubwoman

Anna Golen, scrubwoman, made her grand gesture the other day. Anna was one of 23 New Yorkers who gathered at the Hotel Roosevelt to receive prize awards in the Panama-International Sweepstakes. She had advised, in advance, that she would prefer to take her $3,578 in cash.

Accordingly, Anna was handed a tremendous roll of bills amid great ceremony. As she came through the revolving doors to the street, she encountered a barrel-chested gold-braided doorman who gave her a haughty glance as though to say: "Why don't you use the servants' entrance?"

Anna looked him over coldly. She pulled out her roll of bills. She peeped at a few.

"Here, young man!" she said, "Go, get yourself a haircut."

He took it.

It's LIVER THAT MAKES YOU FEEL SO WRETCHED

Wake up your Liver Bile

No-Calam necessary

For you, as a healthy and happy, you live must pour two pounds of bile into your bowels every day. Without this, bile, the waste of the body, cannot be eliminated. How can you expect to live up to a standard like this completely with more bile-moving salts, bile, mineral water, laxative candy or chewing gum, or roughage? They don't work, you know.

You need Carter's Little Liver Pills. Purify your blood, cleanse and cure your bowels. Get them by name. Refuse substitutes. 25c. at all drug stores.

Three-Cent Treasury Note

Rare American "Greenback" In Possession Of Montreal Man

One of the first "greenbacks"—a treasury note for three cents, issued in Washington in 1863—was discovered at Montreal in the possession of Desmond Dupuis. The note aroused much interest when the owner took it to the bank to see if it was of any value.

The "three-cent-bill" is about two and a half by one and a half inches in size and is printed in black and white on one side and in green and white on the other. The face of the note states it was issued by "Act of March 3, 1863," and receivable for all United States stamps, and was "furnished only by the assistant treasurer and designated depositaries of the United States."

The bill is marked "United States Fractional Currency—Treasury Department."

Chinese Royalty Visits Canada

Crossing Canada as their fastest way of reaching the Orient to join an Imperial relative at his court, Princess Junho, her husband, T. K. Chen, and their little baby are seen as they arrived in Halifax recently in the Canadian Pacific liner Duchess of Richmond. Princess Junho is the second sister of Emperor Kung Teh, the young man who as an infant was proclaimed Emperor of China and is now Emperor of the Manchurian state created by Japan.

Little Ying-Tai, eighteen months old daughter of Princess Junho, was born in London, where her parents have lived in recent years. The princess and her husband both speak English perfectly, and are seen to be smartly attired in European clothes. Telling rosy-cheeked and pretty Ying-Tai is Miss Florence Kitten, a stewardess in the Duchess of Richmond, who had care of the little girl during the voyage across the Atlantic. The party sailed from Victoria April 7 in the Empress of Canada.

More About Weeds

Threshing Weeds

As the threshing of weeds is paid for at the same rate as the grain this item is self explanatory.

19% Loss in Yield Due to Competition by Weeds

Various estimates of losses due to weed competition have been made and usually run around 20 and 25 per cent. We based our figures on these estimates, personal observations and quite extensive experimental work on land under crop in various parts of Manitoba. A series of plots were staked out in fields after they were sown in the spring, and half of the plots were kept weeded while the others were allowed to grow in the usual manner. In other fields plots of fairly clear land were cut and weedy areas in the same field compared. The yields from these plots gave figures showing from 15 to 70 per cent reduction in the weedy plots. Taking into account the unevenness of the weed distribution and crediting the summerfallow with being fairly clean the estimate of 19 per cent average reduction due to weed competition may be considered very conservative.

Cost of Hauling Dockage to Elevator

There should be no criticism of a charge of 15c per bushel for the average haul in the west, and as 11,000,000 bushels of dockage undoubtedly arrives at the elevator it must be hauled there by the grower.

Cost of Cultivation Other Than Summerfallow

Any of us who can look back to the days when all the cultural implements needed on any farm were ploughs and harrows, will agree that 40 per cent is a very modest estimate of the increase that weeds cost us in our spring and fall cultivation charges. Those who were farming in the years when the open prairies of Saskatchewan and Alberta were first broken, and horse-steed gourd yields from crops disced into stubble will be sure that it is much too modest.

Loss of Grade in Oats and Barley Due to Weeds

One of the main reasons why our western barley is not replacing more imported corn in the feed lots and dairy barns of Eastern Canada, is that the Eastern farmer refuses to take the risk of introducing so many weeds on to his farm.

That the loss of grades below 1 Feed Oats and 3 C.W. Barley are due to weeds is quite evident from an examination of the inspection sheets of the Dominion Government Grain Inspection Branch. Wild oats are the principle reasons

Here and There

Princess Junho, sister of the Emperor of Manchukuo, with her husband T. K. Chen, were passengers aboard the Duchess of Richmond recently. They travelled across Canada via Canadian Pacific Railway and sailed from Vancouver to the Orient on the liner Empress of Canada.

Heavier Easter traffic in years with main line trains running in extra sections and with added coaches and parlor cars on branch line trains. Canadian Pacific Railway, was reported over the recent holiday, right across the Dominion. Special low fares attracted many passengers.

In the annual statement of the C. P. R. for last year published recently, it was brought out that as a result of decreased earnings the great majority of railway employees have taken a cut of fifteen per cent in wages; higher officers have been reduced 20% and the Company's directors have had a 25% cut in their fees, while E. W. Deatty, Chairman and President, has at his own request taken a reduction of forty per cent.

Eight days only after they had witnessed the Grand National classic at Aintree, near Liverpool, a number of Torontonians reached their homes in time for the Easter celebrations. The achievement was made possible by a fast voyage of the Duchess of Richmond under her new commander, Captain Arthur Rothwell.

Announcement is made by the Canadian Pacific Railway that it will now accept shipments of freight via Port McNicoll and its lake and rail route subject to delay at Port McNicoll, pending the first call. Three Canadian Pacific steamers will be in service on the Great Lakes during the coming season.

"Dredge ship of the Atlantic" as she was called by reason of the large number of prospective brides she carried from Great Britain and the continent to Canada, the Jeanne d'Arc of the Canadian Pacific Steamships is to be sold for scrap, her owners announced recently.

Fifty years of railroad service, 25 of them with the Canadian Pacific Railway, were honored recently at the Royal York Hotel by a banquet and presentation to Robert E. Lamour, retired general freight agent at Toronto. E. W. Deatty, K.C., LL.D., chairman and president of the company; Grant Hall, vice-president; and George Stephen, traffic vice-president, were among those who attended.

L. G. Prevost, K.C., assistant solicitor, Canadian Pacific Railway, has been promoted to the post of solicitor of the company for the province of Quebec, succeeding the late Rodolphe Paradis, K.C., the appointment being effective as from April 1.

Captain David Sinclair McQueen, commander of the Canadian Pacific liner Duchess of Athol, will retire on May 1, after 41 years spent on sea service, most of which was in the employ of the old Allan Line and Canadian Pacific Steamships.

Farmers in this district welcomed a grand soaking rain followed by a snow storm on Sunday night.

For lowering the grades. Crops which have been grown in competition with bad infestations of weeds are generally poor physical samples also.

Wedding

A rather quiet but none the less very pretty wedding took place in St. Andrew's Church, Vulcan, on Wednesday, April 4th, when Miss Frances O'Malley, of Arrowwood became the bride of Wilfred Callaghan, of Alston. The bride's attendant was Miss Eva Oltheiser, of Champion, whilst the groom's brother, Mr. John Callaghan, acted as best man.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Cunningham who afterwards celebrated the special nuptial mass which is permitted on such occasions and imparted the nuptial blessing to the bride. The choir under the direction of Mrs. G. M. Hicher, rendered some appropriate hymns and Miss Kathleen Stack sang the "O Salutaris" as an offertory piece.

The bride and groom will in future reside on the farm of Mr. B. Tommatzsch, near Vulcan, —Vulcan Advocate.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. O'Malley, Chinook. The groom, Wilfred Callaghan also lived in the Chinook district for a number of years.
